The rains mean tree planting season is here!

- Young trees are once again getting planted out from the many tree nurseries, so as to coincide with the start of the rainy season which runs from December until April. This year the rains were late so tree planting only started now, in January. By planting the trees out now they are given the best possible chance to survive
- Over 1 million trees have been successfully raised and are currently being planted out during this 2023-2024 season
- Thank you for the support!
